

The Art of Relationships: Vocational Singleness

May 21, 2023

Matthew 19:11-12

This past Sunday we continued our new series, the Art of Relationships. We heard a message from Petier Vialk on vocational singleness. God has a preference for whether we step into vocational singleness or Christian marriage. He wants us to ask Him, trust Him, and accept His gift.

Getting Started

Petier talked about vocational singleness. Whether we are dating, single or married, we have all been (or are) single at one point in our lives. That means dating (for almost all of us). What is your most embarrassing or cringe-y dating story 🤔? Share with the group.

Read

Matthew 19:11-12; 1 Corinthians 7:7

Digging Deeper

- Whether we are single, dating, or married, God desires that we ask Him what gift (singleness or marriage) He would like for us to receive. Did you or have you asked and trusted God which gift you are called to receive?
- Vocational singleness is a lifetime calling to singleness for the sake of kingdom work with undivided attention. What stuck out to you from Sunday's message on this topic? What challenged you?
- Jesus came to redeem all of Creation, and He invited us to start making the world right now for the sake of the gospel. Our relationships (whether we are single or dating) are meant to help do that. How do they help you do that? How could they?
