

In Our Veins: We Create the Future

March 12, 2023

We are starting off our new series, In Our Veins, looking at the values that make up TLC. The first value we are looking at is, we create the future, meaning that we develop culture creating disciples through culture creating churches to send into culture creating cities to create better futures. There is a calling that you as a person have been given to pursue and there is a calling that we as a church have been given to pursue. As we bring our best to these callings and make disciples in those places, we create the future.

Getting Started

Who is someone you can think of that has created culture for the better in their workplace, school, community? It could be someone you know personally or someone you look up to like a coach or historical figure

Read

Genesis 1:26-28, Colossians 3:23-24

Digging Deeper

1. Where is a place of influence that you have where you can create the culture? (workplace, home/family, neighborhood, etc.) Take some time to consider and discuss how you can bring your best and bring the Good News of Jesus to these places in the way you interact there.
2. Consider the question Toran asked, “who do you work for?” How often do you come to work with the awareness that you’re working for God? What would change if you came to work with this awareness?
3. TLC has a vision to plant healthy churches. This will require us to be a church full of disciples and disciple makers (not consumers). Who are you investing in at our church as a disciple maker?
