

Joshua: Crossing the Jordan

Jan. 30, 2021

Joshua 3-4

This Sunday we continued our series in the book of Joshua: Promises Have Consequences. In Joshua 3-4, the Israelites begin the journey to possess the promised land and cross the Jordan River. What we find is that God's promises require preparation and they can be trusted. Sometimes the most important thing we can do is simply remember this.

Getting Started

On Sunday we talked about a really important story for the people of God—the Israelites crossing the Jordan River. What's an important story in your life?

Digging Deeper

- The text above deals with memorials. The book of Joshua calls them “cairns”. Is there a place or a memorial in your life that is significant for you? What is it? A vacation place? A house? A park?
- The Israelites cross the Jordan and God's promises are fulfilled. What are some of the ways that God has fulfilled promises in your life?
- When the Israelites cross the Jordan, God instructs them to build a memorial, a “cairn” to remember the ways that God provided. How can you make an effort to build a “cairn” to remember these ways God has moved in your life?
