1 Peter 2:11-25

This morning we continued our series in 1 Peter, Never Let Go. The passage for this week is a difficult one. A few things we must keep in mind as we approach this text: The U.S. (or the west) are very different from ancient Rome, the things that Peter says are intended to both uphold and undermine society, and the Bible is interested in seeing society transformed in unexpected ways.

Digging Deeper

- In the text above, what stands out to you? What is the most difficult/challenging/confusing part of this passage for you personally?
- In his letter, Peter offers a paradigm for how to interact with the society around us: submit, suffer, and serve. Which of these comes most natural for you? Which is most difficult?
- On Sunday, Toran stated that this passage has a clear message: we have to be more interested in people seeing and hearing the story of Jesus than defending our rights. How does this resonate with you?
